Donations and Patronage

What is Wingspan?

Wingspan is the literature and art magazine for Frank W. Cox High School. The goal of the Wingspan staff is to recognize the creative, artistic spirit of current students, and to display its appreciation for literature and visual arts within the community. All Frank W. Cox students, grades 9-12, are encouraged to submit their best work to the magazine electronically at www.Wingspanonline.com or in person at any Wingspan meeting. In addition to a physical magazine, Wingspan hosts a live performance called Wingspan Live put on by students showcasing their talent and ability at the end of the school year.

Why the need for Patronage?

Wingspan is a labor of love for the students and teacher sponsors involved. The time it takes to put together a professional, quality magazine rivals even the most demanding sport schedules. But even with the devotion and hard work put into the magazine by all involved, publication could not be possible without proper funds. To these ends, the Wingspan staff graciously and humbly asks for community sponsorship in the form of donations.

A donation to Wingspan is an investment in the creative and artistic talent so very present in our school's community, as well as an investment in the future of artistic expression and the flourishing of the arts which often times can go unnoticed in a high school setting.

A donation of any amount will get your name and/or business onto our contributor's page and the gratitude of the entire student body for contributing to the artist spirit of the school.
